

Topic of the Speech:

Simplifying Fabric Flammability Measurements for use in Public Health Practice

Professor Uwe Reischl

Boise State University
USA

Professor Uwe Reischl is a Professor in the Department of Public Health and Populations Science at Boise State University, USA.

Dr. Reischl is a public health physician with research interests in occupational health, ergonomics and human factors. He received his undergraduate and graduate training at the University of California at Berkeley obtaining the Ph.D. degree in Environmental Health Sciences from the School of Public Health. He received his medical training at the University of Ulm in Germany where he obtained the M.D/Ph.D. degrees in clinical medicine.

Professor Reischl's current international research collaborations include projects with the University of Zagreb in Croatia and Khalifa University in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.